Nearly 100% Approvals for 2021
H-1B Visas for Our Clients

OVERVIEW

2021 was full of immigration challenges, but ILBSG is proud to report that we experienced some of the highest success rates on H-1B that we've seen in the last 5 years.

BACKGROUND

In recent years, the H-1B program has been subject to restrictive policies with higher denial rates.

Following a policy turnover in March 2020, the H-1B program has been restored to more reasonable adjudication practices. ILBSG has taken full advantage of the more favorable immigration climate and strategized to maximize our clients' success.

OUR APPROACH

While this climate helps, ILBSG's attentive approach have maximized results for our clients.

While USCIS provides a list of basic required documentation to file at the initial stage, we always take it a step further. We file petitions with extensive supporting evidence to meet all eligibility requirements and eliminate complications, such as RFEs. We want the best possible outcome, which doesn't mean taking the easy way out.

RESULTS

Based on a random selection from our thousands of filings, ILBSG proudly reports:

- Of H-1B cases filed, 86% have been received and finalized.
  - We saw a 100% approval rate for the finalized cases. 84% of the approvals were straight approval and 16% receiving approval after RFE.
  - Only 13% remain pending, including petitions filed in the second round filing period that recently ended in early November.
- Of RFEs (for H-1B cap and non-cap) filed:
  - We saw a 99% approval rating.
  - Only 10 notices of intent to deny/revoke for H-1B cases were received, and all 10 were approved after our response, for another 100% approval rating.

As we head into 2022 and prepare for another H-1B cap season, we encourage our clients, existing and new, to strategize and start early. Our data supports our advice.
